Hail to the Chief

President Berman

As you walk along the campus there are many symbols that stand for the Manhattanville community. You can't help but notice the Castle that towers for all to see representing the tradition of our past and the firm foundation we have for the future. However, if you continue strolling you're sure to see another fixture of the Manhattanville community, President Berman. He's the man you can recognize at sporting events, happy hour or just chillin' on the quad. When you look back on your years at Manhattanville, President Berman will be one of the dominant figures that stands out because he is known as more than just a name, we know him as a person and friend.

The Castle is a symbol of Manhattanville's past and future.

The Village We Call Home

Manhattanville becomes more than just an educational institution once you become a part of the community. It's a place where people of all realms of life come together and find a common bond. The friendships and relationships that are built in the years spent at Manhattanville are the foundation of our Village.

Right: Jose shows us that happy hour is fun for all who attend.

The Residence Halls...

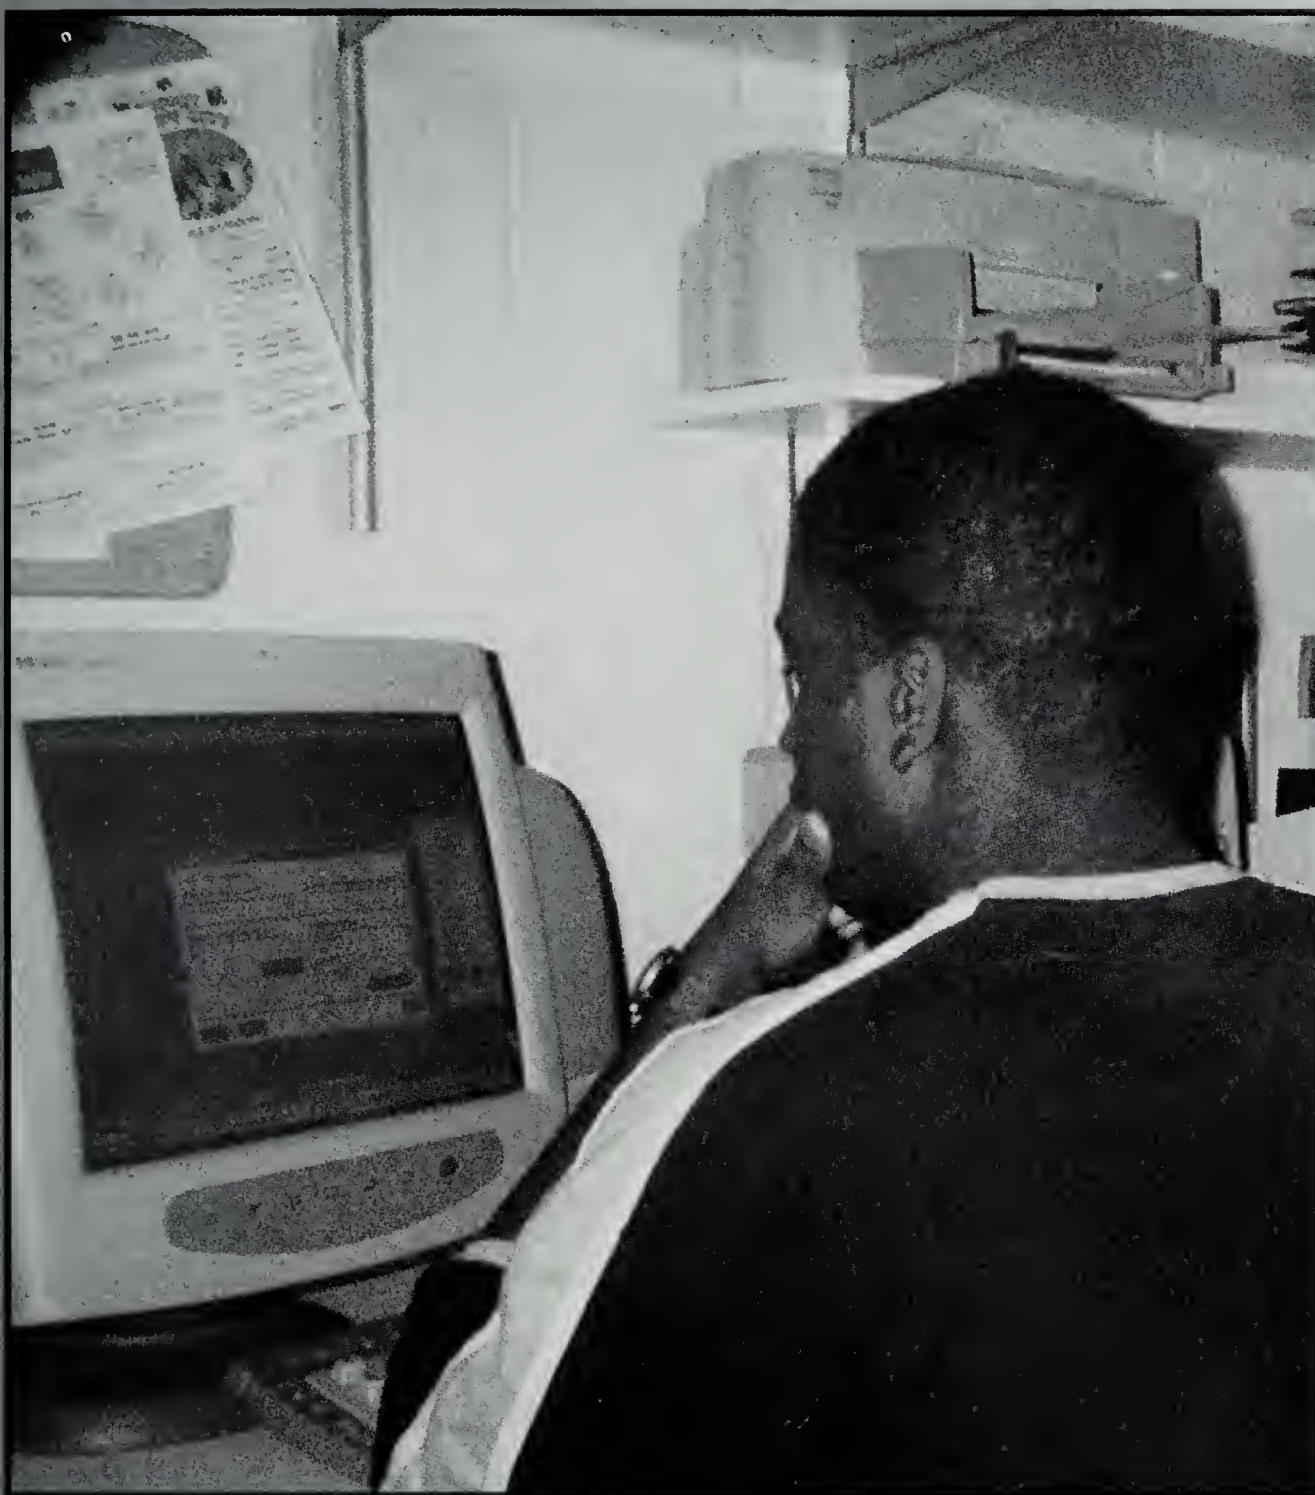

Are We Living in a Dungeon?

Adjusting to a new living environment is hard enough, but when you have to do it year after year it gets a little exhausting. Besides moving in and out of rooms you also have to figure out how to move your life into an area the size of your normal bathroom. To add more pain to the process, the thought of trying to get work done while your next door neighbor celebrates another Tuesday night is useless. From freezing rooms in November, to the sweltering heat of May, the dorms are the closest place to home you have on campus.

Right: Sometimes the only place to find privacy is to sit in the hallway.

Village Bonding

The Friends We Make Here

The whole college experience can seem a little too much at times. With busy schedules personal time is hard to find. But there are those certain people that you always have room to fit in. One of the most rewarding aspects of the Manhattanville years is the people that you meet. From the day you arrive on campus knowing no one, to the day you leave with hundreds of memories, it's the people you meet that make the difference. Friendships built throughout these years are unlike those of the past. Not only do you share stories of your past, but these are the people that are with you as you build your future. From strangers to buddies, everyone finds people who have something in common. The friends you make now somehow get to know a truer sense of you because of the enormous growth college gives us. Here's to the friendships that have made college a most memorable time.

Right: Friends are never too busy to stop for a picture.

The Cafeteria, Pub & Pitt The Hungry Valiant

When you finally find the time to eat there are a variety of choices. The Cafeteria is the main source of meal fulfillment but most of the time it's a hit or miss situation. When you don't have the time to guess what last night's dinner has become today you can skip the cafeteria altogether. Most students take their meal equivalency and pub cash to the Pub or Pitt where your options are well known and consistent. The Pub and Pitt also become the spots for late night snacking. If it's 3 o'clock in the morning and you need anything from a cheesesteak to a cup of coffee the Pub is your savior. Not only do the Pub and Pitt offer reliable dining; the couches and television also provide more relaxing environment to hang out in.

Fall Jam oo'

Village Entertainment

There are certain times of the year when the Manhattanville community comes together to celebrate. Fall Jam is one of those days. Bands fill students day and night with entertainment while the bonfire roars and apple cider is passed around. O.K. so it gets a little crazier than that but it's always fun. It one of the few days when the quad is covered with blankets and cups; and the R.A.'s seem to be just a little more like the rest of us. No matter the weather or performing acts, Fall Jam is definately a village favorite.

The Daily Grind

Daylife in the Ville

Monday morning: the residents emerge from the depths of the dungeon, cross the quad, often still in pajamas, headed to that first class. Commuters arrive and drive in circles in a gamelike hunt for a place to park--And so the week begins. We spend our days in Brownson trapped at little wooden desks speaking among ourselves or listening to endless lectures. Students take short breaks to eat greul in the cafeteria or to relax with the T.V. in the Pub. We are constantly in the library or computer labs desperately trying to finish our work before class begins (in ten minutes). As classes come to an end, some diligent students retire to their rooms, their noses buried in books. Others get dressed up, with a smile on their face, as they prepare for night life.

Left: When there's no time for lunch the vending machines become your best bet.

Below: It's a race across the quad to make it to class on time.

Steppin' Out Night Life

When the sun sets students finally get some time to themselves. If you're lucky enough not be spending your time in the library or computer lab, Manhattanville's location offers a variety of spots for late night fun. Many easily find their way into White Plains where there is an array of activities waiting. From malls, to diners, to pool halls there is something for everyone. Let's not forget the main reason students head out to White Plains --The bars!!! What college experience would be complete without the drunken crawl home and next morning hangover?

The Formals...

Rain or Shine, Spring or Fall!

Some of M'ville's most memorable times are found at the semi-annual formals. Everyone gets the chance to dress in their best and flock to the Castle for a night of dancing. Of course this does not happen until all of the pre-parties are in full swing. The formals definately bring the students out and remind everyone that finals are on the way!

It's Time

Seniors Get Ready

A job? Internship? Not another portfolio review! And all this thesis pressure. Senior year has come upon us and it's more hectic than anyone had ever imagined. As leaders of the campus the pressure is on. Who would have thought that Tuesday and Wednesday nights would keep us up late doing work instead of having fun. This last year has crept up on us and the responsibilities are endless. Stressed? You bet! Here's to the future- Real World- we're on our way!

Above: Formals will all be a thing of the past after Senior year.

200 Nights

The Countdown Begins

The Pub was the hot spot when the Seniors took over for the first of their countdowns. The turnout was huge and the party jubilant.. If you were curious, the outdoor foam pit was your choice. Two deejays kept students both inside and outdoors dancing. The World Series added to the excitement. As the Seniors enjoyed the open bar -the rest of the campus joined in after 11 pm making the celebration community wide. The countdown to graduation had begun, but Seniors looked towards the rest of their last college year and the partying that was yet to come.

Left: The foam pit added to the excitement of 200 nights.

100 Nights

The End is in Sight

This time the seniors took their party to the Castle for the infamous 100 nights countdown. This time around the party was inclusive to seniors and the festivities included dancing and a cash bar. Those in attendance celebrated the night away, while others shyed away from the event studying for mid-terms and cracking away at their thesis and senior projects. However, the sadness of the approaching end did not inhibit the party goers who lived for the night and looked forward to the fun still left to be had at M'ville.

Manhattanville's Future

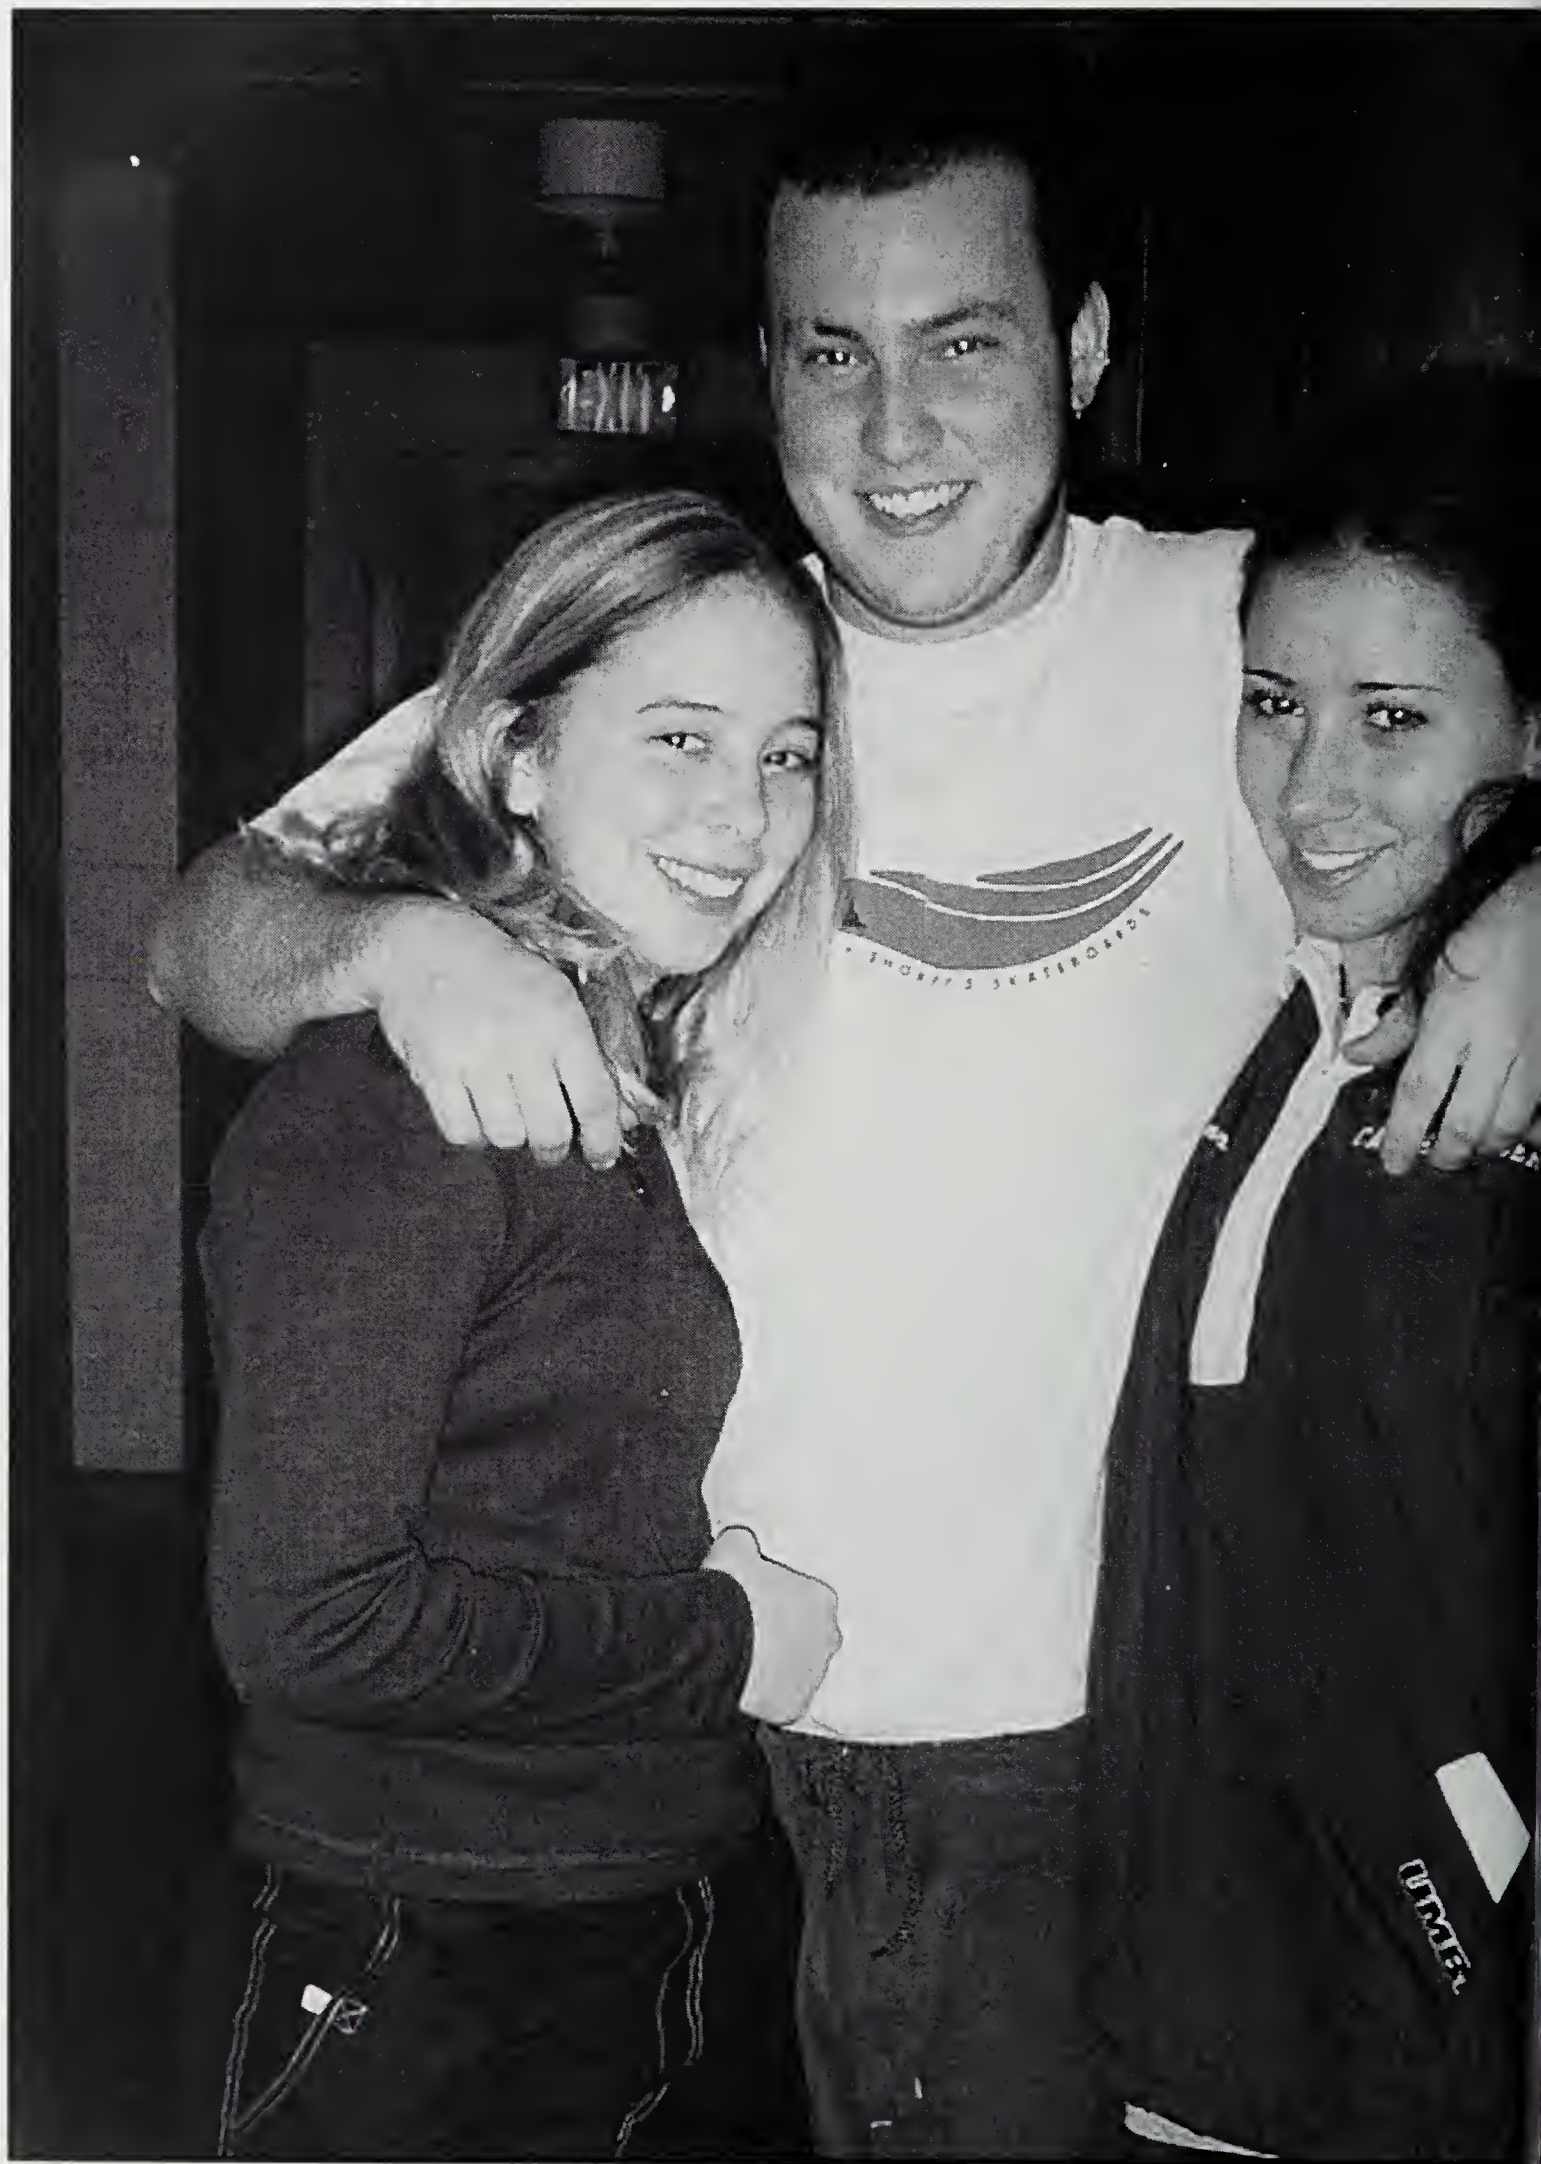

Coming to college makes growing up inevitable. The years spent here mold you into who you will become. The undergraduates at Manhattanville are the future of Manhattanville. As the seniors take their final bow, it is up to the rest of the student body to sit up and take charge. As majors are decided and friendships grow stronger, the undergraduates find their niche and grow. This section of the yearbook is dedicated to those who are the body and future of the village. These are the Valiants that lead us further into the Millennium. We may have different views and goals to work for, but we are working together not just for ourselves, but for the Manhattanville community.

Left: A late night vending machine snack keeps these students ready for anything. Above: This crazy Valiant is dressed to impress.

M'ville's Future

Valiant Friendship

With all the new activities and functions meeting new people comes easily. It is these people that brighten our days when we're down and give us a shoulder to lean on when we feel we just can't make it anymore. They are the people we eat with and recruit to run through the halls in our pajamas. These friends become our life at Manhattanville. Not a day goes by when someone doesn't have a new crisis or crush, but regardless of why they need you, you're there to hang out for as long as it takes. Sometimes it even requires skipping a class, but who cares, friends are what makes college!

Burning the Mid-Night Oil!

It's not all about fun when the moon settles on this campus. Many of us find our nights filled with less than appealing activities. If you find yourself sleeping with a book as your partner you know what I'm talking about. Those long nights spent in the library add up especially when you have added assignments like the portfolio. We're here at Manhattanville for an education but those all nighters can get pretty brutal. Thank goodness for coffee!

Below: Sometimes you just can't study anymore and it's time to sleep.

Undergrads...

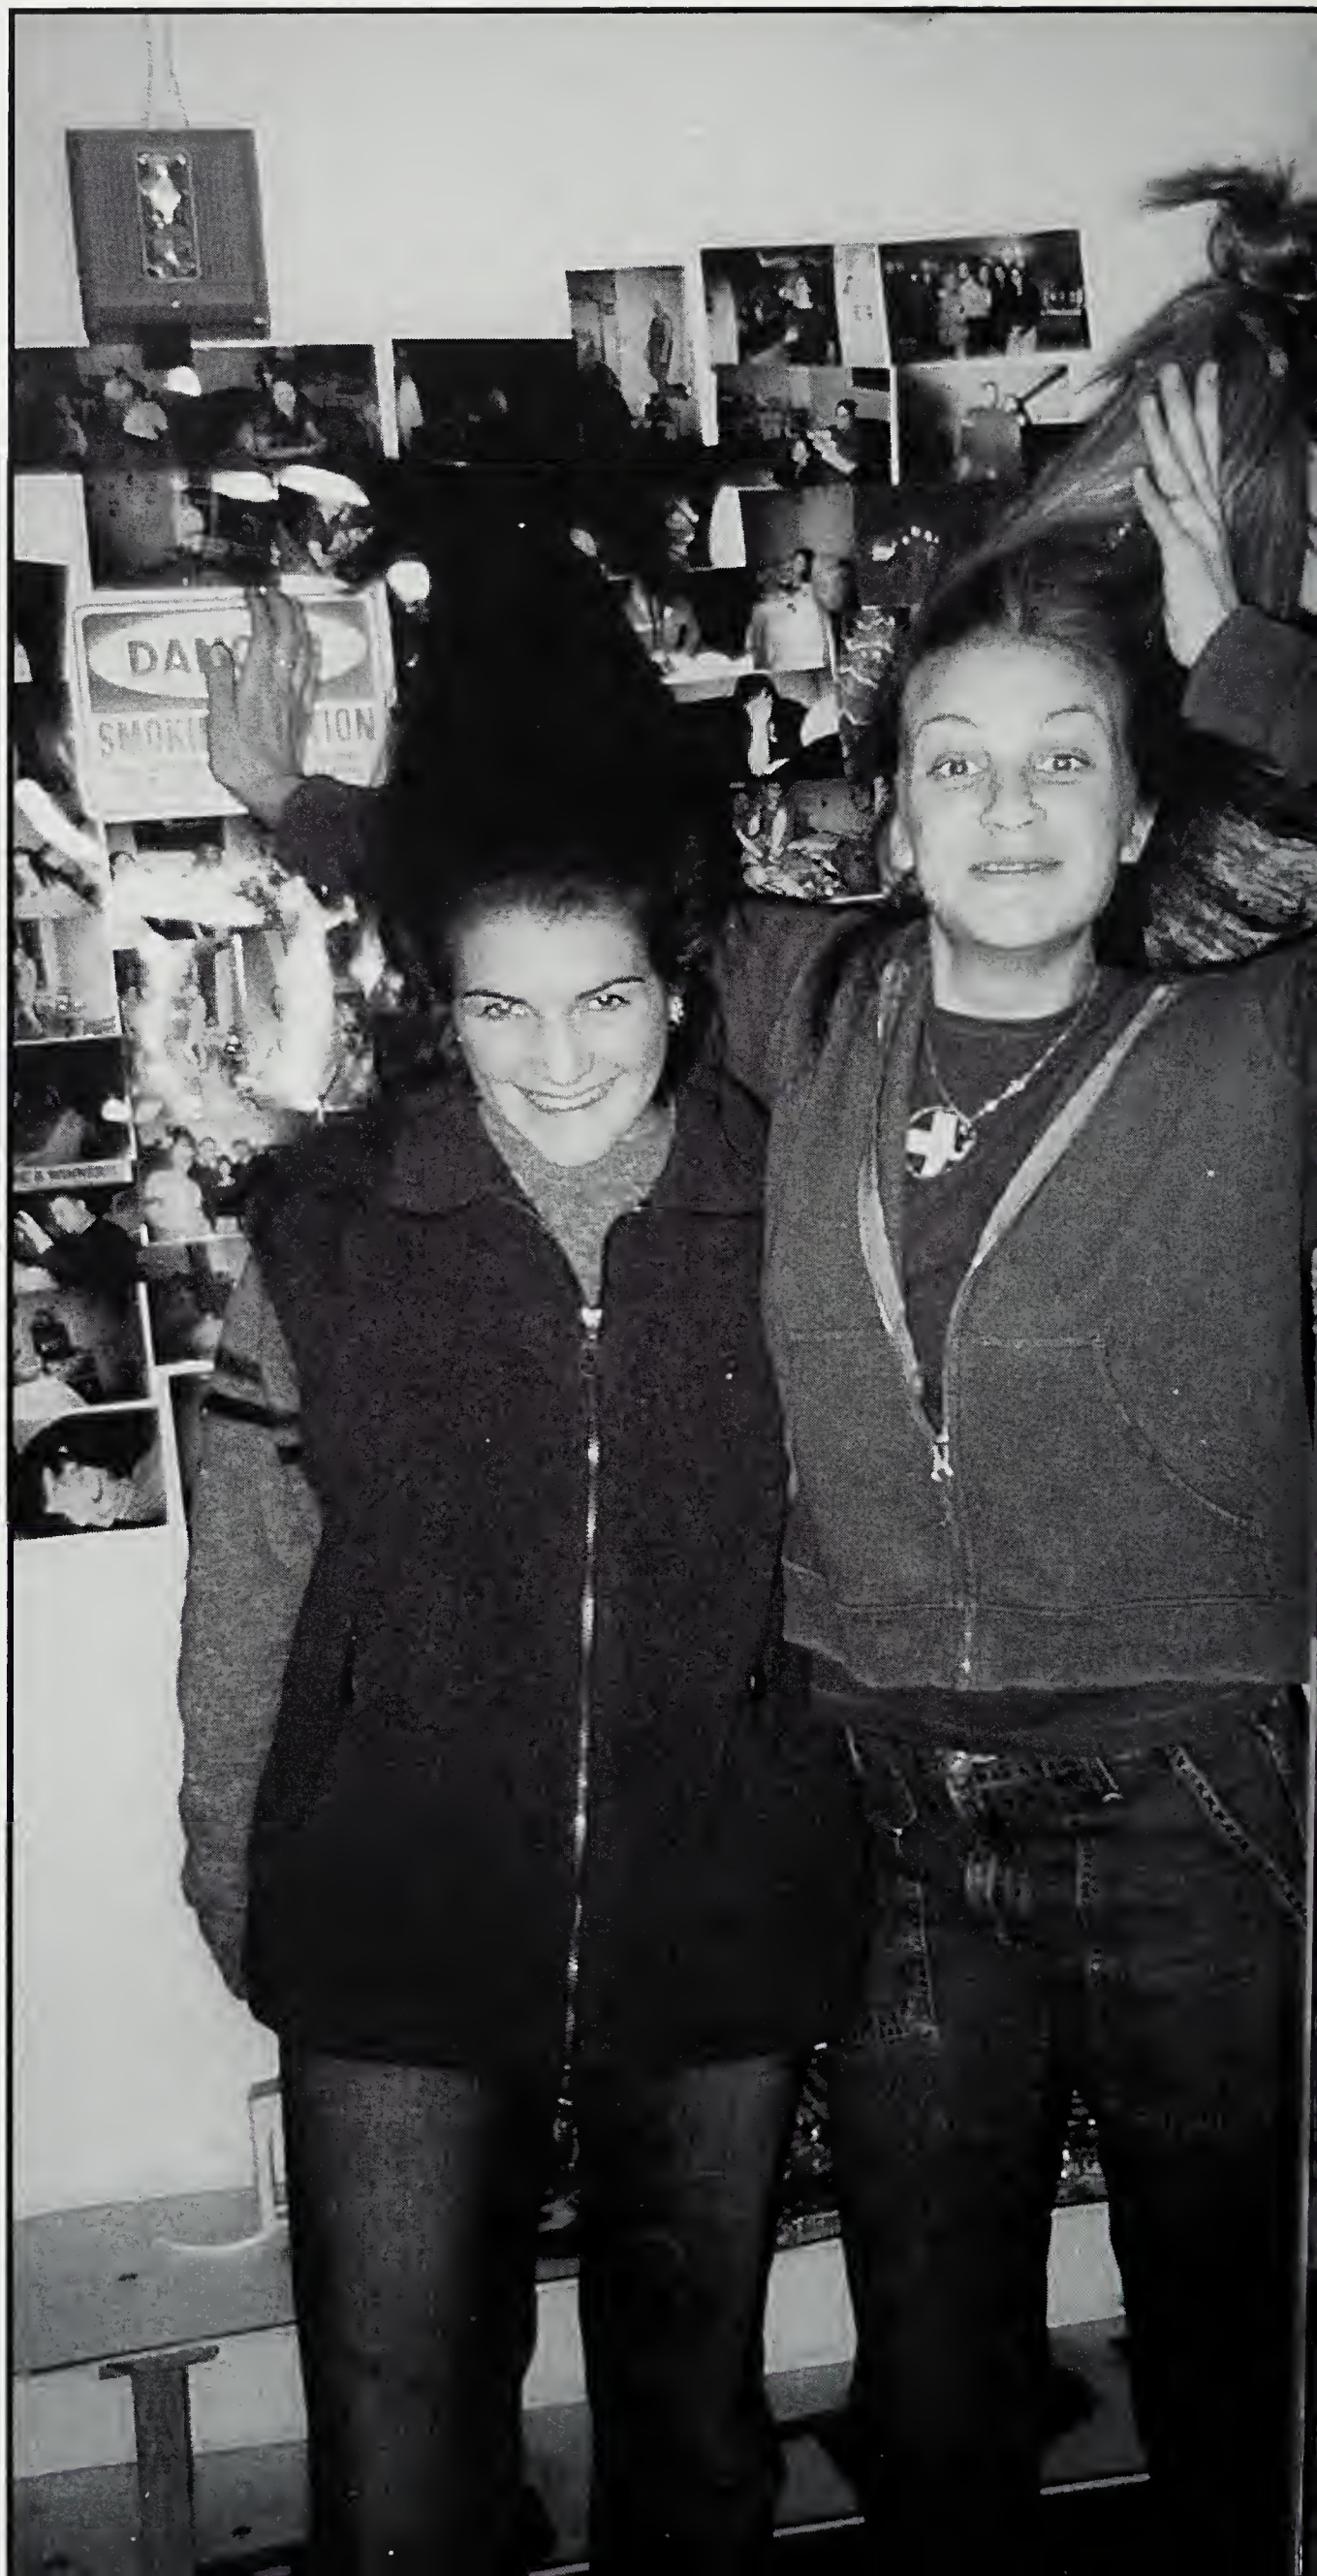

M'ville's Future

Where Am I Going To Live?

As undergraduates proceed through the year one of the most important questions that arises is, "Where am I going to live next year?" The Freshmen are finally allowed to pick a new residence, no longer having to reside in Spellman. The most convenient and possible choices are suites in Tenney and Damman. There you get to live with the many friends you've made and you can leave behind the common floor bathroom. For those Sophomores and Juniors, it's time to decide what suits you best. Founders gives you the option to live alone and find the quiet time you might need for an upcoming thesis or senior project, however, there is no place like living in a suite. It's especially convenient when everyone starts turning legal; it's like a little apartment to party in. Whatever your choice leaving Spellman behind is a sign of moving up!

Below: Living in a suite makes friendship even stronger.

Election 2000

George W. Bush selects Dick Cheney, former Wyoming representative, and former secretary of defense as his vice-presidential running mate on the Republican ticket.

The 2000 presidential election was in many ways decided by not just the voters but the courts. Five weeks after election day, the US Supreme Court blocked Al Gore's request to have disputed Florida ballots recounted. George W. Bush and Dick Cheney won the election after being awarded Florida's 25 electoral votes.

Antiquated voting methods in this age of technology threw the presidential election into turmoil. Punch card ballots, and the accompanying "Votomatic" system were first created in the 1960s. Disputed ballots had chads, or paper fragments hanging from the punch card that made it difficult for voting machines to read the ballots.

Painstaking manual recounts are performed by several Florida counties.

Al Gore chooses Joseph Lieberman, senator from Connecticut, as his running mate in the 2000 presidential election. Lieberman, though unsuccessful in the presidential election, was reelected to the Senate by Connecticut voters.

First Lady Hillary Clinton becomes Senator Clinton from New York. Rudy Giuliani was her first opponent, but left the race after a cancer diagnosis. Guy, my fellow alumni!

I am very proud of you!
You truly are an amazing person!
I commend you for always going for what you believe in!

On behalf of our entire family, I would like to say congratulations on a job well done! We are all so very proud. We ♥ you!
Love your sister, Melinda

“Yeah I graduated”

From Mom, You have always been a source of pride for me. From the day you were born I have enjoyed being your Mom. You honor me with who you are.

From Marty, Thanks for your acceptance and love. I have all the confidence in the world that you will succeed in all that you do. You have shown me you are a responsible young man. You can always count on me for anything.

Congratulations
Shawn L. Edie

on your graduation from Manhattanville.

You have had a great four years and we are very proud of you. Good Luck in your

We once held your small hand to support each new step
And we would choose each new path to guide and protect.

But time has a habit
of slipping away
And soon we'll be celebrating your graduation day.

All through these years
we've watched you mature and grow
While we as your parents have had to learn to let go.

So as you begin your new challenge facing all that life sends Remember- the cycle continues the love never ends.

Someday you may be blessed then you will truly understand Just how much love it takes to hold a very small hand.

With much love and pride.
We love you.
Congratulations,
Mom and Dad

Congratulations Daniela!

On all that you have achieved.
We are so proud of you,

Manhattanville College Graduate 2001

As you continue on the road of life, may you always seek to...

"To laugh often and much: to win the respect of intelligent people and the affection of children: to earn the appreciation of honest critics and endure the betrayal of false friends: to appreciate beauty: to find the best in others: to leave the world a bit better whether by a healthy child, a garden patch, or a redeemed social condition: to know even one life has breathed easier because you have lived.

This (too) is to have succeeded. "

Baby Amelia

You have come to the end of your long journey and have completed it successfully. I am so proud of you. I remember the day you were born, when you took your first step, and every special event in your life. But now, a mother could not be as proud as I am of you. You have become a beautiful young woman and a special person inside and out. I wish you success and love today and throughout your teaching years and life. I will always love you near or far.

Love,

Mom

Amelia,

We are very proud of you. You are the first in our family to graduate from college. You should be very proud. We love you very much.

ODE TO NOELLE

I watched with pride my little girl growing up to be
A beautiful young woman
as you can see!
Her High School years proved her excellence in achieving her goal.
Proving indeed she strived with all her heart and soul.
And now here we are, four more years have gone by.
She's graduating college, and oh
what a high!
We're all so very proud of our
"Shining Star"
Her achievements are yet to behold
by far!
And so she will become the best teacher ever!
So Manhattanville "good-bye" she must now sever!
The only one in our family to reach for the moon!
And she accomplished that feat
way too soon!
Good luck, my dear daughter, in whatever you reach for!
For, as you can see by now, you're the one I adore!

All my love,
Your Proud Mom

ALEXIS COHEN
CONGRATULATIONS

Dear Laura:

From your parents you learn love and laughter and how to put one foot in front of the other. But when books are opened you discover you have wings. After four years, you are now graduating. You have developed into a beautiful young lady with a whole future ahead. Use the four years of experience to get and do the things you've dreamed of. We are all proud of all your accomplishments!!!

Congratulations!!!

Love,

Mom, Dad and Chris

DEAR DANIELLE,

Mommy, Daddy, Joey, Vinny, Jaime and Tiki "B"

DEAR CHRISTIE

When you were insistent on being born on 3-18-77, I knew that you were destined to do great things. Your road may have seemed long and bumpy at times and you had to take a few detours, but you finally reached your destination. All of your goals will be reached, one by one, as you succeed through the road of life. How could they not be reached, you have your own guardian angels at your side at all times, your Dad and Pappa. They would have been so proud of you! However, let me change the "would" to "are" because they are both looking down on you and always be there for you.

Your future students will be so lucky to have you as their teacher. But remember to be good and kind to them, treat them with respect and hold them in your heart and they will do the same to you. You never know if some day one of your students may do some great thing and when asked who they attribute their success to they would reply "my grammar school teacher, Miss Makowski."

On behalf of our entire family we congratulate you today!

*If you can dream and not make dreams your master;
If you can think and not make thoughts your aim;
If you can meet with triumph and disaster
And treat those two impostors just the same;
If you can bear to hear the truth you've spoken
Twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools,
Or watch the things you gave your life to broken,
And stoop and build'em up with worn out tools;*

*If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with kings nor lose the common touch;
If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you;
If all men count with you, but none too much;
If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run;
Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it,
And, which is more, you'll be a Man my son.*

Marion,

It hardly seems possible that this day is here. Over the last four years we have watched you formulate your ideas and goals into reality.

We are all so proud of your accomplishments during your college years. You should look back at these years with much confidence in yourself regarding your career.

Please know what a blessing you are to us and we look forward to being alongside of you as you make all of your hard work and dreams for your future come true.

All our love and pride to you, Maz.

TOWER 2001 was published by the Herff Jones Yearbook Company located in Gettysburg, Pa. 17325. The total press run for this years edition consisted of 150 copies using an 8 1/2 x 11 page size format. The staffs original cover design was created using a custom embossed process. The base material consisted of Vibra-Tex #41006 crimson red. An application of #25 white along with silver #F-1 foil and leather overgrain completed the cover process. The endsheets were printed on premium fibertext re-cycled PE-2 gray stock using HJ #950 black ink. The front endsheets were blind embossed using the same custom cut die from the cover design. The paper stock chosen for the entire book consisted of Meade's triple coated 100 pound Bordeaux stock. Special effects consisted of 4-Color Process photos and Spot Color backgrounds. Percentage screens of black, overprints, reverses, mortices, rule lines and shades texture screens were also utilized throughout. Our Professional Photographer was Arden Studios Inc. of Staten Island, New York 10306. Our Publishers Representative and friend is Dale Alger of Bedford, New York 10506. Our Customer Service Person in Gettysburg is Ms. Barb Hale. Additional credits go to the Herff Jones art department for their creative renderings of the cover, endsheet, and thematic interior designs. We' like to give special thanks to Ms. Bridget Connors, Editor-In-Chief for her commitment and dedication, which made our yearbook special.
